

Management

A full "concept to delivery" solution

An average mobile project can require hundreds of man-hours to develop and manage throughout its lifecycle. Deviations and errors during the process continually require new solutions; and the learning curve seems endless.

SVS offers complete project management services to significantly reduce your in-house efforts and expenses while effectively eliminating the chance of costly mistakes. We become your trusted ally during the entire project lifecycle, keeping your best interests at hand and ensuring your project runs smoothly.

Built on proven methodologies

SVS can manage your project from concept to reality; or any aspects between. Our personnel have experience with hundreds of mobile projects worldwide, allowing us to manage your project using time-tested techniques and proven methodologies. We streamline your entire process, reduce your workload and stress levels, and virtually eliminate any risk of failure associated with your mission-critical project!

A typical project management package might include:
